MITCHELL ETESS

CHIEF EXECUTIVE OFFICER

In his fourth year as CEO of the Connecticut Sun, Mitchell Grossinger Etess oversees team operations on behalf of the Mohegan Tribe, representing the ownership in all matters pertaining to the day-to-day functioning of the franchise on both the administrative and basketball sides of the organization.

Born into a family of hoteliers, Etess brings literally a lifetime of experience in the hospitality industry to the Mohegan Sun, where he was recently promoted from Executive Vice President of Marketing to President and Chief Executive Officer. Etess, who joined Mohegan Sun as a member of the casino's pre-opening team in 1996, now oversees the overall management and operation of the Northeast's premier entertainment destination.

Prior to his position at Mohegan Sun, he served as Vice President of Marketing at Players Island Resort-Casino-Spa in Nevada. From 1988 to 1994, Etess was employed at Trump Plaza Hotel & Casino in Atlantic City, rising through the ranks from Public Relations Manager to Senior Vice President of Marketing. Before that, Etess was a partner in the advertising and public relations firm of Gordon Etess Associates in Pinehurst, N.C., working there after serving as General Manager at CCA/Holly Inn in Pinehurst.

Before 1985, Etess worked in virtually every capacity at his family-owned Grossinger's Hotel in Grossinger, N.Y. It was here that Etess, raised at the hotel, received his early training in the hospitality industry.

A graduate of Columbia University, Etess resides in East Lyme with his wife Karen, and their two basketball-playing daughters Piper and Maxie.

JEFFREY HARTMANN

CHIEF FINANCIAL OFFICER

In his fourth year as CFO of the Connecticut Sun, Jeffrey E. Hartmann is responsible for overseeing the team's finance department, monitoring all aspects of team finances, and ensuring that all WNBA league financial reporting requirements are met.

Hartmann is also the Executive Vice President and Chief Operating Officer of Mohegan Sun, where he has been employed since December of 1996. In this position, Hartmann oversees hotel operations, food and beverage, information technology, customer relationship, the finance department, and all casino operations, including table games, slots and Race Book.

Prior to his most recent promotion, Hartmann was the Executive Vice President of Finance and Chief Financial Officer of Mohegan Sun from 1996-2004, supervising day-to-day management of the accounting, financial reporting to the Securities Exchange Commission, and bondholder and bank relations.

Hartmann has 15 years of experience in the casino and hotel industry. Prior to joining the Mohegan Tribal Gaming Authority, he served as Vice President of Finance at Foxwoods Management Company from August 1991 until December of 1996. A certified public accountant, Hartmann was employed by PricewaterhouseCoopers, LLP, as an Audit Manager, from 1984 to 1991.

He currently lives in Old Lyme, Connecticut with his wife Marisa and their four children.

PAUL MUNICK
PRESIDENT

In his fourth season as President of the Connecticut Sun, Paul Munick manages all aspects of the administrative and basketball operations for the franchise.

Munick is also the Senior Vice President of Sports and Entertainment for Mohegan Sun, overseeing all business operations for its three entertainment venues: Mohegan Sun Arena, Cabaret Theatre and Wolf Den. He also supervises the property's Advertising and Public Relations departments. During his tenure, Munick has been instrumental in bringing world class sporting events to the Mohegan Sun Arena, including championship boxing, college and professional men's and women's basketball, Davis Cup tennis, professional bull riding and professional bowling. He has also secured world-renowned performers such as Jimmy Buffet, Tim McGraw, James Taylor, Cher, David Bowie, Bon Jovi, Phil Collins, Shania Twain, Janet Jackson, Aerosmith and others to perform in Connecticut's premier entertainment venue.

Prior to joining Mohegan Sun, Munick served as vice president of athletics and entertainment at Madison Square Garden in New York City. In this role, he was involved in the development and expansion of all business initiatives, including contract negotiations, operations, marketing, sponsorship and television.

Munick was responsible for a wide variety of national events at Madison Square Garden, such as the Goodwill Games, NFL Draft, Millrose Track & Field Championships, Big East Championship and Women's Tennis Associations' Chase Championships (formerly the Virginia Slims Championships), where he served as tournament director. He also managed the Garden's family entertainment offerings and in 1995, re-established the professional boxing program.

Munick holds a master's degree in sports administration from Ohio University and a bachelor's degree in economics from Stony Brook University.

A native New Yorker, he currently resides in Berkeley Heights, New Jersey with his wife and two children.

CHRIS SIENKO

GENERAL MANAGER

In his fourth season as the General Manager of the Connecticut Sun, Chris Sienko has been instrumental in establishing the franchise as one of the most successful in the WNBA. Working closely with coach Mike Thibault, Sienko has been extremely aggressive in the offseason, building a team that has become a perennial playoff contender.

Five of the seven trades in franchise history have happened while Sienko has been the General Manager of the Sun. The most recent of those deals was a draft day swap that brought San Antonio center Margo Dydek to Connecticut last April. The 7-foot-2 Dydek had an immediate impact on what had been an undersized Sun frontcourt, setting single game and single season franchise records for blocked shots while helping Connecticut set team records for rebounding.

In the span of 79 days during the winter of 2004, Sienko engineered three trades that changed the face of the franchise. The biggest of those deals was a trade that sent four-time All-Star point guard Shannon Johnson and two picks (21st and 34th) to San Antonio for the Silver Stars' fourth, 16th and 29th picks in the 2004 WNBA Draft. The Sun used the fourth pick to select University of Minnesota star guard Lindsay Whalen. Sienko also acquired forward Asjha Jones from Washington in a three-way deal that involved Phoenix on March 25th, bringing the former UConn star back to Connecticut.

Sienko oversaw a hectic transition period that began when the Mohegan Tribe's purchase of the Orlando Miracle was officially announced on Jan. 28, 2003. In the 95 days between that announcement and the Sun's first preseason game against the New York Liberty, Sienko traded for Connecticut icon Rebecca Lobo, hired coach Mike Thibault and the rest of the Sun front office staff, helped negotiate the team's radio and television contracts and managed all of the many other day-to-day business functions of the franchise, including player contracts and personnel moves for the team. In addition to his role as GM for the Sun, Sienko was also directing all sporting events for the property, including boxing, wrestling, college and professional basketball, bowling, billiards and more.

Prior to joining Mohegan Sun, Sienko was an integral part in the start up of another professional sports team, the ABL's New England Blizzard, where he served as vice president of marketing, then general manager. He also was president of the Arthur Robert Group, a small advertising agency in Connecticut for eight years, before becoming vice president of marketing for thePit.com, which was successfully sold to Topps, Inc. in 2000.

Holding senior level positions with each of the organizations he has worked, his experience and guidance have brought in millions of dollars in revenues, new business and long-lasting partnerships.

A graduate of the University of Connecticut, Sienko lives in Newington, Connecticut with his family.

MIKE THIBAULT

HEAD COACH

For head coach Mike Thibault and the Connecticut Sun, 2005 was another season of records.

In his third season with Connecticut, Thibault guided the Sun to the best regular season record ever posted by an Eastern Conference team, a 26-8 mark that included a remarkable 13-1 record against the Western Conference and a franchise-record eight game winning streak. Connecticut's 12-2 start over 14 games was one of the quickest in WNBA history, topped only by Houston's 13-1 start in 1998.

Only the Houston Comets and Los Angeles Sparks have ever won more games in a regular season than the Sun, who clinched their second straight Eastern Conference regular season title with five games remaining on their schedule. Not since 2001 has a team won as many regular season games as Connecticut did in 2005. In fact, during Thibault's three years with the Sun, only Los Angeles has won more regular season games than Connecticut, which is 62-40 since relocating from Orlando before the 2003 season.

The top team in the East for the second straight regular season, Connecticut repeated as Eastern Conference Champions by sweeping Detroit and Indiana to reach the WNBA Finals for the second consecutive year. The Sun eventually fell to Sacramento in the WNBA Finals, the first series in league history played under a best-of-five format.

During the 2005 season, Connecticut set 15 team records. Among the new marks established in 2006 were total assists (573), scoring average (72.8 ppg.), made field goals (916), field goal shooting percentage (.452), rebound average (32.6 rpg.), total rebounds (1,110), defensive rebounds (788), made free throws (512), free throw attempts (688) and blocked shots (127). The Sun won eight straight from May 22nd to June 20th.

On February 16th, Thibault received another honor when he was asked to serve as an assistant coach on the 2006 USA Women's Basketball World Championship team, joining Duke coach Gail Goestenkors and Temple coach Dawn Staley on the staff of head coach Anne Donovan.

During the 2004 WNBA season, Thibault led a Connecticut Sun team that was a near-unanimous pick to finish last before the start of the season to within one shot of a WNBA championship. After finishing first in the Eastern Conference during the regular season for the first time in franchise history, the Sun went onto defeat Washington and New York on the way to their first Eastern Conference Championship. Connecticut won the first game of the WNBA Championship series with Seattle before eventually falling in three games.

Connecticut's accomplishments in 2004 were particularly impressive considering Thibault rebuilt the team following a 2003 run to the Eastern Conference Finals. Concluding the Sun needed to get younger and more athletic, Thibault risked taking a temporary step back to get better. He carried five rookies on the 2004 roster, lowering the average age of his team from 28.4 to 24.2. Among those rookies was point guard Lindsay Whalen, who averaged more than 30 minutes per game running the team.

The Sun also flourished despite losing starting forward Brooke Wyckoff to a season-ending knee injury on May 3rd. Wyckoff and the five other veterans who did not return to the team averaged a combined 30 points, 13.5 rebounds and 7.6 assists per game in 2003.

In 2004, Connecticut set single-season franchise records for total assists (572), assist average per game (16.8) and 20-assist games (nine). The Sun also set a franchise record with six straight wins from June 20th to July 6th, and the team reeled off eight straight Eastern Conference victories at one point. Four of those eight conference wins were on the road. Thibault has never lost more than three games in a row during his tenure with Connecticut.

In his rookie season as a WNBA head coach – following a four-year stint with the Milwaukee Bucks – Thibault led the Connecticut Sun to the first playoff series victory in franchise history, a 2-0 sweep of the second-seeded Charlotte Sting in August of 2003. Although Connecticut would succumb to the eventual WNBA champion Detroit Shock in the Eastern Conference Finals, Thibault guided the team to what was then the best season in the history of the franchise.

Under Thibault, Connecticut has been one of the most aggressive teams in the league in the offseason, not hesitating to make deals that improve the roster. Five of the seven trades in franchise history have occurred since the team relocated from Orlando to Connecticut before the 2003 season. Among the players acquired by Thibault as a result of these trades are Lindsay Whalen, Asjha Jones and Margo Dydek.

Thibault entered the NBA ranks in 1978 as a scout for the Los Angeles Lakers, and was promoted to director of scouting and assistant coach in 1980. The Lakers won two World Championships (1980, 1982) during his tenure. From 1982-1986, he was an assistant coach and director of scouting for the Chicago Bulls during a period when the franchise drafted Michael Jordan and Charles Oakley, while also acquiring John Paxson.

From 1987-88 Thibault was the general manager and head coach of the Calgary 88's of the World Basketball League (WBL), earning WBL Coach of the Year honors in 1988.

Team Notes:

- With a two-game sweep over the Charlotte Sting in the Eastern Conference Semifinals, the Sun advance to the Eastern Conference Finals for the first time in franchise history.
- For the second straight year, Sun players Shannon Johnson and Nykesha Sales represent the team in the WNBA All-Star Game. For Sales, it is her fifth-straight appearance in the All-Star Game.
- With Debbie Black and Shannon Johnson in the backcourt, the Sun became just the third team in league history to have two guards with more than 500 career assists.
- On May 24, 2003, the Sun opened the season at their new home, Mohegan Sun Arena, in Uncasville, CT. The Sun lost the game, 82-73, to the defending champion Los Angeles Sparks in front of a sellout crowd.
- Before the start of the 2003 season, the Orlando Miracle relocated to Connecticut, where it began play as the Connecticut Sun.

WNBA COMMUNITY RELATIONS

Through WNBA Cares, the WNBA is deeply committed to creating programs that improve the quality of life for all people, with a special emphasis on promoting a healthy lifestyle and positive body image, breast health awareness, youth and family development, and education.

WNBA Cares, in partnership with NBA Cares is an initiative through which the leagues, players and teams will raise and contribute $100 million for charities. The initiative donates more than 1 million hours of hands-on volunteer service to communities worldwide, and builds more than 100 places where kids and families can live, learn and play over the next five years.

WNBA BE SMART•BE FIT•BE YOURSELF

WNBA Be Smart•Be Fit•Be Yourself encourages teens and women of all ages to learn more about their bodies and the importance of physical fitness through programs related to health, fitness, nutrition and self-esteem. The content of the program is communicated and delivered through a Fitness Journal, a 'Team' of Spokespeople, National and Local grassroots events, promotion and a mobile tour.

JR. WNBA
